

The Fun Doesn't Stop for Fall in Boise

September 2018 – Hot summer days have officially left and with the fall arrives a variety of fun events involving food and beverages, holiday shenanigans, and ways to keep active as the seasons change.

Drink Up!

Boise's booming craft beer industry comes alive with Oktoberfest celebrations. Boise Brewing's Hoptober Freshtival will have more than 30 local and regional participating breweries in their large fresh hop festival. Beer isn't your thing? Press & Pony is hosting a Speakeasy Night with 1920's music and their specialty cocktails as a tribute to the Prohibition Era or you can sip your way through the best local wines at the Idaho Wine Commission's Sippin' in the City event at the 8th & Main Building. Dine Out Downtown Boise Restaurant Week is calling all foodies at the end of October to experience prix-fixe menus designed by local restaurateurs to showcase their best work.

Fit for the Fall

Work off those inevitable extra holiday pounds in Onward Shay events with 5k, 10k, half marathon, and marathon options. If you'd rather watch from the stands, Boise State football is back for another season on the famous blue turf. Catch the Idaho Steelheads hockey team at CenturyLink Arena.

Pumpkin Spice and Everything Nice

Celebrate autumn with these classic Boise events. The annual Idaho Botanical Garden's Fall Harvest Festival will have live music, food vendors, and the Scarecrow Stroll. Pick pumpkins and run through the corn maze all month long at the Farmstead. Get spooky at Adult Night: Surviving Murder & Mayhem at the Discovery Center to explore detective work and play mystery games. The 10th Annual Frightened Felons at the Old Idaho Penitentiary will be scarier than ever over Halloween weekend with separate nights for all ages and adults.

Pray for Snow

Get in the holiday spirit at Wintry Market, where you can buy goodies from the Treasure Valley's talented local artisans. Experience local favorites, like the Festival of Trees and the downtown Boise Holiday Tree Lighting, as the holiday season comes alive. Stroll through the magical Idaho Botanical Garden when it is covered in bright lights for Winter Garden aGLOW. Discover Boise's talented youth at the Nutcracker ballet, produced by Ballet Idaho.
